

THE PHILANTHROPY CAREER NETWORK philanthropycareer.net

What is the Philanthropy Career Network?

The Philanthropy Career Network (PCN) is a free resource, designed by leaders in the field of philanthropy. We provide personal guidance, relevant content, and community for other current and emerging leaders in philanthropy. We serve as confidential counselors and advocates for those seeking career growth and provide thought partnership to those charged with building and leading high-performing fundraising teams.

Who can join?

Everyone working in the field of philanthropy: board members, presidents, executive directors, and development and advancement professionals in education, arts and culture, health care, and social and community services. The PCN is also for those seeking careers in the field.

What are the benefits of joining?

The PCN helps you manage an exceptional career in philanthropy. Benefits include:

- Thought partnership: articles written by leaders in philanthropy
- Access to career opportunities
- Advice on professional development, interviewing, and hiring
- Assistance with organizational structure and building high-performing teams
- Educational opportunities
- Access to customized career advice, tailored to your aspirations
- Access to other services, including executive coaching, strategic talent management support, and retreat facilitation

How do I join?

Go to www.philanthropycareer.net. Registering is quick and easy, and all information you provide is confidential.

"Philanthropy Career Network leaders are among my most valued thought partners."
R. Bartley Moore, Vice President, Advancement, Georgetown University