

“Riveted: 44 Values that Change the World”

Rivets are permanent fasteners that fill empty spaces in order to create connections. They literally hold a structure together. Values are the rivets of your legacy. Like rivets, values help to hold us steady, especially in the midst of life’s trials and tribulations, and they can create long lasting connections with others. In this session, we will share how understanding values is an essential part of building a legacy that lasts and how knowing those values can help cast a vision for an effective estate and financial plan. We will also spend some time diving deeper into your primary Value type and review The Five Essential Truths of Legacy.
